Many children and adolescents, also in Germany, are seriously endangered by poverty and neglect and therefore require intensive support and care.

„We are very pleased that we can support this year the children's home in Silz in its very valuable and important work. We hope that with our contribution we can help to improve the situation of the children,“ says Tobias Hoffmann, Managing Director of QMatrix GmbH.

„Especially in the children's home Maria Regina, we are particularly dependent on special donations from both companies and private persons. With those donations, we are able to individually support the children and can offer them nice and happy experiences,“ adds Michael Eberhart, director of the children's home Maria Regina.

The children's home accommodates up to 80 children and adolescents in the age of two months until 18 years. In Silz, the children are living in eight residential groups. An additional group is located in Landau.

The conceptual aim of the children's home is to introduce the entrusted children in a positive way to cope with life and to strengthen them through socialisation and integration in their various areas of life.
